A CHAT WITH THE TOWN-CRIER OF THE SEA-GIRT TOWN.

The Nice People and Pretty Girls of the Place-The Crier's Official Duties-Fire Alarm with Bell and Horn.

[Boston Globe.] The town-crier of Nantucket, William D. Clark, came to Boston the other day, and is doing the town from one of the hotels as a base of operations. He is a slim, nervous man, with restless blue eyes, and bears with him the unmistakable tokens of long and patient study of his sea-girt home. In the course of a conversation he spoke of his duties at home and the motives that brought him to Boston, "You see," said he, "we get kind o' lonesome down there arter the summer visitors are gone, and I came up to Bosson to see what it was like. There are nice people in | Bell Telephone 377. Mutual Telephone 391. Nantucket, mighty nice, and civil too; just as polite as can be. Everybody says so, They've got some fine women down there, too. Pretty girls that'd make you a good wife, lots of 'em, if you haven't got one now. You go there now and you'll have a good time, I'll warrant. Sliding and skating and candy parties thick enough. Good time's going to 'em winters, sure's you're,'live. What they do at en ady parties, did you say? Oh, kissing and talking; mostly talking for me. I don't like kissing; not much of it. Kinder

"I am 38 years old, and have been towncrier, with my bell and horn, since I was 20. Not a drop of liquor ever went into my mouth, and no man can say I take it. They are all good people, and they all like me tiptop, and use me first rate. I'm civil to everybody that uses me right. I've got manners enough. No trouble about that. I don't know what they'd do without me there, I'd like to see 'em get along," and he laughed at the idea of Nantucket without the town-

"Guess they'll be glad to see me back agin. I had lots of presents from them and from people in Boston on my last birthday. The trouble is I have too much to do. Too much care on my mind. What I do is worth $500 GENERAL COMMISSION AGENTS. a year if it's worth a cent. When a vessel gets ashore, or there's a fire or an auction in town, the first thing they do is to send for me, and I run all over the town, blowing my horn and ringing my bell to wake 'em up. Make an awful moise, I tell you. You ought to hear me. It would make you laugh to see me go it. That ain't all I do, either. I sell papers. Golly, I nearly lose my head sometimes, Lord bless you! they'd never know there was a fire if I didn't go an' wake 'em up. You ought to see 'em turn out an' run when I blow my horn. Scart nearly to death, true's MUTTON, FISH, etc. yer live. A fire scares 'em awfully. While he was tolking an alarm was sounded from-box 75, "What's that! Fire?" said he jumping up and taking his hat, instinctivel;. When told that it was he asked if the people were not going to it. On being informed that all the inhabitants did not go to fires in Boston, he fell back in his chair and exclaimed: "Gracious, that's queer. All the people go to fires in Nantucket, men an' boys and women. A fire scares 'em nearly to death. Don't get over it for a week. Suppose you get use I to it here, but they never would in. Nantucket. We have four hand tubs at our place an' they all go. It is a good force, not so good as your'n, of course, but good, all the same. Two men sit up in the tower an' keep watch. They go on at 10 o'clock an' stay till daylight. First one watches an hour and then t'other. Cold up there winters, awful cold sometimes. But they are paid for it. Give 'em $1 a night. That's good pay for what they do. Soon's they see a blaze they call me up, and I go around with my bell and horn, making a big noise. They turn out spry and run to the fire. I'd think you'd get all mixed up at fires here and wouldn't know where to go. Hope you don't have many, for fire's a hard master-a good servant, but a hard master, as the saying is. Better keep it at arm's length. That's my

"Now, if you'll came down to Nantucket we'll use you first-rate. Show you all over the town and introduce you to all the pretty girls. Come down and see me."

> America Ahead. [George Alfred Townsend.]

I think there are not more than three nations on tile earth which can compete with the Americans in the manufacturing spirit -Germany considered as a whole, Great Britain, France. These seem to me to be our only equals. There is hardly anything to be made which the Americans do not make. Many things they make better and cheaper than el-ewhere on the globe. You take all the components of a house, and a house is much of life, and the Americans can probably build a cheaper house than promptly executed, and at reasonable charge. any existing nation. They can also meraich that house cheaper than any other. They can probably dress man and woman as cheap as any nation but one or two, and I fancy that if they were hard put to the te they could dress people cheaper than any other country, though in some points of manufacture they would fall below the LEATHER, HARNESS, SADDLERY, general standard.

Tramping Toward New Orleans. Tramps are said to be drifting toward New Orleans for winter quarters. The exposition crowds will add to the attractive. Harness and all other kinds of leather, ness of the place for them.
